Headline:
Early cloud and rain soon clearing. Dry with sunny spells.

Today:
Any lingering cloud and rain along North Sea coasts soon clearing, otherwise a bright and chilly start. Staying fine and dry, with some bright or sunny spells during the afternoon. Windy at first, these gradually easing throughout the day. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry, with clear spells this evening. However, it will turn cloudier from the west overnight, although it will stay dry. A milder night underneath the cloud. Light winds. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Thursday:
A cloudy start to the day, although the cloud will tend to thin and break to give way to sunny spells in the afternoon. Feeling warmer, with light winds. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Friday and Saturday will be dry, with warm sunny spells, once any early mist and fog patches have cleared. Brightening up after a rather cloudy and damp start on Sunday.
